USSC plays Santa Claus

By DEAN JONES

SOUTH BAY — Christmas came a couple of days late but city commissioners were still celebrating Tuesday night over the way United States Sugar Corporation played Santa Claus to make two parks a reality.

Mayor Don Tanner said the city had managed to get a $50,000 grant from Palm Beach County and another $50,000 grant from Palm Beach County Community Development towards construction of the two parks but it was a $180,700 donation approved by USSC President John Boy that made the difference.

He explained that both of the two $50,000 were matching grants and the city had to come up with funds or in-kind donations to qualify for them.

"Even after we figured in the in-kind contribution we could make by supplying labor," he said, "we could only come up with about $20,000," and hopes for the parks was beginning to look as if it would go glimmering, with the possibility the city could only come up with one of the parks or two incomplete parks.

Adding to the frustration was the fact that one of the parks, to be located on the site of South Bay Elementary School, had to be built within the next three years according to an agreement worked out between the city and the school board.

"For years," Tanner read from a prepared news release at the opening of the commission meeting, "the City of South Bay has been called upon by its citizens for recreation facilities. Each year we would make an attempt to furnish such facilities but to no avail. Tonight, I am happy to announce that this long sought after project has been funded."

Tanner said the USSC grant had its beginnings in a conversation he had several months ago with Bob Lee, USSC vice president in charge of community relations.

"Bob said that since U.S. Sugar was now a part of the community (after buying South Bay Growers) they would like to get involved," Tanner said. "He asked me if there was anything they could do and I told him about the two parks."

"Bob said that was just the sort of thing they like to contribute to."

Mayor Tanner said he had several more conversations with Lee before the matter was submitted to Boy, who gave his final approval between Christmas and New Year's Day.

"I felt they'd come through with something," the mayor said, "but never in my wildest dreams did I think they'd come up with the whole amount we needed to match the two grants. This is some Christmas present."

Tanner expressed his personal thanks to all those involved in getting the donation, particularly Boy.

Tanner and Acting City Manager Lomax Harrelle said the park to be located on the site of South Bay Elementary already has one basketball court but it would be refurbished, with a new surface and backboards, and tennis courts, a double handball and racquetball court and playground equipment for smaller children would also be included.

Plans aren't completed for the park but Tanner said he is also looking into other suggestions to help fill out the open space and will see if the Palm Beach County Heart Association would be agreeable to jointly building a heart parkours around the perimeter.

He said lights and fencing are planned and the building on the property will be split in half, with one half to be used to store equipment for both parks. The use for the other half hasn't been determined but to one end of the building will be restrooms. Paved parking spaces will be located at the end of the property fronting on SR50.

The other park is located on Northwest Eighth Avenue, near the water storage facility now being completed. It already has one basketball court.

To be added at that court is another basketball court, two racquetball courts, playground equipment for small children, restrooms and fountains, a paved parking area, tennis courts, shuffleball courts and a pavilion.

Harrelle said all the construction is expected to be completed by summer.

"This," Commissioner Sammy Rogers said, pointing to the racquetball courts on the blueprints, "is my honey." He said the partic-

Support your local racquetball court

BELLE GLADE — Any doubts about support for the rebuilding of racquetball courts at Airport Park were laid to rest Monday night when Mayor Tom Altman presented copies of 16 letters he'd received from racquetballers.

The general thrust of the letters was that the racquetball courts were used several times a week and constituted the most used facility for adult entertainment which had been built recently by the city.

The letters were passed around to the commissioners during a workshop in which the commissioners reached a general agreement to build the new courts immediately to the west and north of the snack bar at the park and directed Acting City Manager Frank Anderson to begin looking for an architect.

Mayor Altman said he doubted the city would need to enter the process normally used when hiring a professional for a costly project and asked Anderson to begin looking around for it suitable architect.

Altman noted the City of Cleveland had recently borrowed the plans for the courts which will be demolished in the near future. A storm of controversy blew up over the courts last fall when a number of cracks and faults were noticed in the construction, causing the city to order them closed for safety.

The controversy continued through the commission's last meeting in December, when the commissioners voted, 3-2 with Commissioner Dorothy Walker and Charles Goodlett voting against Altman and Commissioners Claude Tindall and Randy David, to build a new set of courts after demolishing the existing facility.

The vote was taken after Altman told the other commissioners he had come up with more than $86,000 which could be used for the construction, which was estimated by engineers will take some $60,000.

Miss Walker explained her "no" vote by saying the commission should use the funds Altman had found in the budget to increase the pay of city police officers. Goodlett simply said he felt the commissioners should think long and hard before committing themselves to the new courts.

It was pointed out that the site behind the snack bar would be best because there's enough room there and sufficient parking space which isn't now being heavily used, is available.

There was some discussion about the construction of the courts, including whether the site should be demucked and backfilled as recommended by the engineers or whether piling should be used, whether a balcony should be included and whether the courts should include ceilings, partial ceilings or left open and whether, and how much the job should be done by city forces.

The commissioners also directed Community Development Director Remar Harvin to complete an application for a $20,000 state grant to aid in paying for the new racquetball facility.

The grant, Harvin said, could be the smallest recreational grant submitted in a program that allows a maximum of $200,000 but they're set up to pay one third the total cost of the project.

The application will be submitted for approval during the Monday night commission meeting.

In another discussion,

Anderson told the commissioners

Hi-Te Construction Company, which received a bid to enclose the three-walled courts at the existing facility for $15,000, has agreed to a close-out figure of $3,465 for work done before the courts were closed. This was considerably less than the $7,000 to $10,000 Altman had estimated. Hi-Te would require to satisfy the contract.

On another subject, Anderson went over the city's current fiscal position with the commissioners, as requested two weeks ago by Goodlett.

Anderson, who is also the City Finance Director, used two methods of accounting to show the commissioners the city's current status.

Using the modified cash basis, which the city has traditionally used and which shows the actual cash flow, Anderson told the commissioners the city had a surplus of $70,707 at the end of Fiscal Year 1980.

The accrued basis of accounting, shows income as soon as bills are posted. It shows the city, for instance, as having already received its ad valorem taxes, although that money hasn't been actually delivered by the County Tax Assessor's office.

One dies in fire

BELLE GLADE — An 88-year old woman died Tuesday from burns received in an apartment house blaze that also hospitalized her two sons.

Mrs. Cynthia Ray of 616 S.W. Ave. E was pronounced dead at 2:16 p.m. in the burn center of Orlando Regional Medical Center and one of her sons, Frank Milo Ray, 64 was listed in poor condition there. Both were transported to Orlando in a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter.

Another son, William Henry Ray, 65, was treated and released at Glades General Hospital.

Belle Glade Fire Department Captain Jessie Womack said the state fire marshal inspected the ruins of the apartment and it was determined the early morning blaze was caused by an electrical short in a home-made lamp cord which had been spliced.

Womack said the fire was first seen by Sgt. Leroy Carrigan and Patrolmen L.D. Griev, who attempted to get through the back door of the building but were beaten back by heat.

Womack said Mrs. Ray and her son, Frank, who had been sleeping in two bedrooms, were found in a bathroom which had been locked from the inside. The other son, William Henry, had been sleeping on a couch in the living room and managed to escape on his own.

Jackson is 'the other end'

When the Pittsburgh Panthers pounded to a 39-7 win in the Gator Bowl over South Carolina last week, not all that many people were aware there was a second All-American defensive end but there were a number of fans from his home town of Pahokee who went to see Ricky Jackson wind down his collegiate career.

Jackson, who was a standout during his years terrorizing opponents of the Pahokee Blue Devils, has been hard to ignore during the eight years he's played football in high school and at Pitt but most of the spotlights during Jackson's time as a Panther have been focused on Hugh Green.

Green was a runner-up for the Heisman Trophy this year but a look at the stats don't show all that much difference between the two roommates, particularly considering the fact that Green was a rushing end while Jackson's primary responsibility was defending against the pass and tight ends. Green and Jackson both started 11 games during the Panthers' regular season; both made 73 tackles and 45 assists for a total of 118 tackles. After that, the numbers diverged but not all that much.

As a rushing defensive end, Green sacked opposing quarterbacks 17 times compared to Jackson's 12. Green recovered four fumbles to Jackson's three. Green broke up six passes to Jackson's four but Jackson intercepted one pass, a feat Green didn't match this year.

But Green's long shadow meant that while he was consensus All-American, Jackson was a second-string United Press International All-American and third string Associated Press All-American. Jackson was also chosen Sports Illustrated's Lineman of the Week the week Pittsburgh beat Army, 45-7.

And considering the fact there are 139 major colleges fielding more than 10,000 players in intercollegiate football, that wasn't a bad record.

January fishing report

When normal winter temperatures prevail, predicting the activities of the fish in our lake can be forecast fairly accurately. After nearly two weeks of below normal temperatures it is difficult indeed. Less than two weeks ago there was evidence of bedding preparation on the part of the bass.

The rapidly lowering water temperatures had but one effect - bad. The bass not only left the bedding areas but they went to the thickest cover they could find. Anything to get out of the cold as much as possible. Bass prefer water temperatures of 72-73 degrees when bedding and with the lake waters down to 57 degrees their amorous intentions turn off quickly.

The accurate thermometers of the Fish Commission indicate that the water has been as cold as 54 degrees. If the present cold wave persists it could go lower still. This will not hurt the bass per se. What it will do is make it difficult for the fishermen to bag any number of the larger models. Immediately our weather pattern returns to a more normal one the pursuit of trophy fish will be a bit and miss proposition. This could happen at any time and when it does, look out.

Being shallow in nature this lake can change plus or minus 10 degrees in a period of 24 hours. It will take but a few days of warmer air and lots of sunshine to accomplish this fact.

Meanwhile what does one do? For openers consider the use of the largest, liveliest shiners you can obtain and fish them tight against the weed beds. There may be more willing takers than you might expect.

Another approach is to use weedless spoon combos across the weed beds themselves. Yet another method is to consider the use of smaller top water and medium running plugs in the Rim Canal. The canal harbors an unusually large number of bass at this time.

While it is true that mostly you can expect good numbers of smaller fish it is also true that there will be some models meeting in Melbourne earlier this month.

The severity of the many cold fronts we have experienced lately is that the population of snook in the lake (and there are more than one would think is in grave danger. Unless they can find waters warm enough the will die. There are several schools of tarpon and though they can withstand lower temperatures than snook they too may find survival difficult.

The picture for the forepart of this month is not one of great optimism. Take heart for the have had these same conditions before and rapid turnarounds have always taken place.

of lunker size in these waters too.

Method, perseverance and adequate attire are musts for fishing right now. As long as the cold persists it is not necessary to get up at the crack of dawn. As the day warms up the fish will become more active and it will make for more pleasant fishing.

Speckled perch (black crappie) are also adversely affected by the colder waters. Normally, they would commence their shoreward migration by mid January or within a few days either way. This annual event may be delayed for some time. These fish prefer water temperatures of 67-68 degrees.

We don't have it at present and until we do perch activity will remain on the slow side. Like bass, once the waters warm, you can expect to see the schools move in.

For the present fishing these tasty critters is going to be on the slow side. Good catches will be made by those who take the time to seek them out. Once located they are willing biters and don't expect those locating them to divulge the whereabouts of their honey holes. When they are schooled up their location becomes a general knowledge very quickly. When hard to locate the opposite is true.

From reports received from around the lake it would appear that the Rim Canal in the Belle Glade and Clewiston areas are the best place to look. On the West side the Harney Pond Canal and Indian Prairie Canal along with the Twin Light area off Little Sarasota are the best bet. With exceptions it indicated that the cold has turned off the bluegill and shiners almost completely. Some will be caught but, generally speaking, it will be on the very slow side.

FHP trooper hits road running

Any time someone mentions baptism under fire in the near future, Florida Highway Patrol Trooper L.C. Herold can tell them all about what it means.

Herold reported Friday for his first day of duty alone with the Pahoee element of Troop I and worked two accidents on fog-shrouded Glades roads within four hours... then worked a third 24 hours later.

Herold's first accident came up at 3:30 a.m. on Airport Road east of Hatton Highway, when Vincent Carrillo, 49, of 2198 Bacon Point Road in Pahoee, drove his tractor-trailer load of granulated sugar to the side of the road to wait out heavy fog he felt made the road unsafe.

Herold reported that 45 minutes later, Carrillo's rig slipped into a canal on the side of the road, apparently when the truck shoulder gave way. No one was injured but Broughton's car and Vanasco's van overtook Broughton, struck Broughton's car and Vanasco was charged with travelling too fast for conditions.

The new trooper also worked a three car accident at 10:30 a.m. Saturday 13 miles south of South Bay on US27, in which there were three people hospitalized.

Broughton, 41, of Clewiston 15 miles east of Belle Glade on SR20, detailing the van and doing $1,200 damage to Broughton's car.

Herold reported that both vehicles were eastbound on the highway when Vanasco's van overtook Broughton, struck Broughton's car and Vanasco was charged with travelling too fast for conditions.

The new trooper also worked a three car accident at 10:30 a.m. Saturday 13 miles south of South Bay on US27, in which there were three people hospitalized.

CARD OF THANKS

Last night I went to our twentieth year class reunion of the Lake Shore High School class of 1960 and had a good time. The kids have all grown up now, and they all surprisingly look fine. Some have been very successful, some are sought of well off, one is a movie star, and for me, oh well I never got too far. But by the help of the good master I keep telling on.

I have a loving wife and six kids, and I am working my fingers to the bone. It is a great experience and a lot of heartaches, headaches, and pain, and if I could do it all over again, oh well, I would still do it pretty much the same.

Farwell Class of 1960, oh how I miss you so. Take care of yourself and may be by the help of the good lord, we may get together some more. I know this is sentimental, but we go back a long way and through it all we did it our way.

Congress has completed action on 1981 agricultural appropriations, including several recommendations by Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., of importance to agriculture, and has sent the legislation to the White House for presidential approval.

Based on proposals by Sen. Chiles, the bill: • Instructs the Food and Drug Administration to pursue a vigorous enforcement policy regarding violations of federal standards of identity for orange juice.

Increasingly serious is the problem of illicit use out-of-state of pulp wash solids to adulterate orange juice, resulting not only in economic losses but also lesser quality product to the consumer.

The FDA is required to provide its plan of action for enforcement within three months.

Provides $3.8 million for construction of facilities to produce sterile fruit flies. These sterile flies would be used to combat infestations of melon, oriental or Mediterranean fruit flies. • Restores $225,000 to continue research seeking a technique for eradicating the West Indian sugar cane root borer which is a threat to both the citrus and sugar cane industries in Florida.

According to Chiles, preliminary research under this program has been encouraging. It would have ended without the restored funding.

Adds $200,000 for tropical-subtropical agricultural research, for a fiscal 1981 total of $2,865,000. Some of this research is conducted at the University of Florida (Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences).

• Authorizes the Department of Agriculture to construct a sugar cane climate facility at Canal Point, Fla., to produce hybrid of sugar cane resistant to diseases that limit production.

Explaining his strong support for research, Sen.

Chiles said, "I have long felt that America's superior research ability is a major reason for its underlying strength of its economy."

Herold reported that Biddle, southbound, pulled into the path of the northbound Green and Green pulled as far to his right as possible before the two cars collided. Both sedans were totaled.

A third car, driven by Robert Daniels, 46, of Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, was following Green, saw the impending accident and hit his brakes, sliding into the guard rail on the east shoulder of the highway and doing $50 worth of damage to his car.

Biddle was charged with driving to the left of the centerline.

Remember Dr. King's birthday, Jan. 15th

In honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, noted civil rights activist, will be remembered nationally and throughout the state as many organizations, and individuals, remember him with special programs in honor of his birthday this month, Jan. 15.

Each of us should take the time to remember and reflect back on what Dr. King advocated and preached.

We should also take the time to re-dedicate our lives to the peace he was forever shouting out.

Within our reach, several organizations in South Florida are sponsoring events in honor of Dr. King.

The Black Student Union (BSU) of Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton will celebrate the birthday of Dr. King Sunday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the University Center Gold Coast Room.

Theme for the event will be "Hold Onto Your Dream", and the program will include a slide presentation and skits related to the Civil Rights.

The BSU Gospel Choir will be performing.

An excellent program for the entire family. The BSU extends an invitation to South Florida to be a part of the celebrants celebrating Dr. King's birthday.

Local citizens of Palm Beach County are planning a parade in honor of Dr. King on his birthday, Thursday, Jan. 15.

The parade, the first in this area to honor King, will begin at 1 p.m. at the Gaines Park Recreation Center in West Palm Beach.

All civic, church, and private groups are invited to participate in the parade. There is no entrance fee. For more information call Bill Owens of the Florida Photo News at 305/833-4511.

In keeping with Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday, the Belle Glade Municipal Library is presently co-sponsoring an excellent exhibition on the life of Frederick Douglass, one of the great blacks in America's history.

This exhibition is about the life and times of Frederick Douglass in the context of the struggle for Black Emancipation.

The exhibition includes photographs, illustrations and text, and the exhibit is divided into four sections.

The first deals with the slave revolts; the second, traces the events that led to the Civil War; the third discusses the life of blacks after generations of slavery; and the fourth presents the new black life.

Stop by the library beginning Monday and take in this excellent opportunity to let the youths of the community review the life of Frederick Douglass.

As in all picture taking assignments, my intent is to always use them. I know for the past couple of weeks area youths who participated in the city youth football league have been searching the paper for their pictures. I offer my sincere apology to Mr. Daniel Byth, wood and all of the supporters for the continuing absence of the pictures, however the situation was one that is beyond our control. The day after the pictures were taken, the Herald-Observer office was burglarized and the camera along with the film in the camera was part of the loot that was taken. Believe me if I had any way of collecting that film, I would.

Odds and ends

You really know the holidays are over when the charge card bills start pouring in the first two weeks in January. Merry Christmas; you owe MasterCard and Visa $75 a month for the rest of your life!

And during the first full week of January, it's hard to get back in the groove at work. You no longer have the excuse of it being Christmas or New Year's to explain the slower work pace, so it's back to the grindstone and the reality that the holidays are indeed over till next winter.

National Clergy Week

I bet you didn't know this, but Jan. 1-7 is International Clergy Week. And, along with several of the Glades' churches, the Herald-Observer is sponsoring a special page featuring pictures and biographies of some of our local ministers. If any churches failed to make this week's feature, they may contact Anita Adams at our office to be included in next week's issue.

Other Weeks in January

Although January is a slow month for these sort of things, Worldwide Kiwanis Club week is Jan. 18-24 and Jaycee Week is next week. The Jaycees are inactive in Belle Glade right now,

Mixed feelings

Ambivalence could be defined this week as the way someone in the Glades would feel about the result of the 1980 census, which certified Florida last week as the fastest growing state in the union while continuing to show decreases in the population in Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Florida's ration of four new representatives in Congress not only proved the point we're the fastest growing state in the union but jumped us past New Jersey and Michigan to make Florida the seventh most populous of the United States.

And if that isn't enough, if the 1990 census goes the same way, we'll move ahead of Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania to become the fourth most populous state, trailing only Texas, New York and California... and by that time, the peninsula may well sink from the weight of humanity streaming over the St. Mary's River.

It would appear that Florida, at least, doesn't need the federal encouragement suggested in the commission for an agenda in the '80s that the government ought to encourage the migration of people into the Sun Belt, following industries moving out of the so-called Frost Belt of the Midwest and New England.

There are many who would even argue that Florida, which seems to be inheriting all too many of the people from the northland, is getting less than its share of the industry moving sunward, which only aggravates problems brought on by the influx.

Those problems are basically the provision of human services, ranging from water and sewer on the one hand to social services and recreation on the other, by a government without a tax base increasing in proportion to the population.

If the state gained in clout at the polls and in Congress, it could be some of the most expensive clout ever realized.

Meanwhile, with the recognized growth in other areas, it's little short of amazing that places like Belle Glade and Pahokee are supposedly shrinking when it comes to residents.

It's even more amazing, considering the growth of businesses, particularly services which base their income on community residents, in Belle Glade, including the construction of a Burger King, a movie house, two new bank branches and a handful of mini shopping malls over the last few months and during the next few.

If the community is shrinking, where are all these places going to get their customers?

Incisive

The incisiveness displayed by some members of the Palm Beach County Community Relations Board in the Okalochochee Center, rent strike a couple of weeks ago was amazing.

The only thing that was hard to figure out, since the obvious answer to the problem (Abolish or get rid of both the Belle Glade Housing Authority and Belle Glade City Commission members), was why they went to the trouble of setting up a sub-committee to study the problem.

Why study the problem when you already know the answers?

Letters

Dear Editor:

The average student spends 12 years sitting behind the most uncomfortable seats known to man. A five or six year old child has quite a traumatic experience in first subjected to a classroom environment. Leaving the security of home and parents can be befuddle and why.

Kindergarten for most purposes is a place for busy parents to leave their children for a few hours during the day. From the parents' point of view, the "kid" has more "kids" to play with instead of defusing the cat. Whether the child is actually gaining valid classroom experience is not important to the parent. Yes, a parent, in most cases, uses a kindergarten as a baby-sitter and does not expect the child to be subjected to anything other than finger painting, coloring or playing.

From the viewpoint of a first grade teacher, a pre-school would be very helpful to his or her curriculum and teaching approach. The child that has been exposed to the classroom has an idea of accepted behavior. Having these second graders to teach makes it easier on them.

This brings us around to an interesting question. Why can't we stick our kids in a learning institution as soon as they are potty-trained? We could remove the burden of child rearing and defer these duties to someone trained in the field. After all, isn't this the age of specialization? Each to his own, they say. If these children were monitored at all times, their distinctive abilities could be diagnosed after a short period of time. We could possibly have 10-year old lawyers, doctors and garbagemen, depending on these formidable abilities.

Why, we wouldn't overcrowd our institutions of higher learning with someone who is only qualified to shoot baskets.

Then of course, there is another approach. Instead of needing doctors, lawyers, presidents and garbagemen, why not have everyone go to school from cradle to grave?

Sincerely,
Brett McCormick

How 'bout them Dawgs?

Never thought I'd live to see the day I'd be pulling for Georgia when it comes to football but maybe that's what they mean when people talk about new things happening on New Year's Day.

But what could be sweeter than those Dawgs sticking a 17-10 loss to the old Dame from South Ben in New Orleans? That one's easy and has a couple of answers: first of all, considering the talk over the past few years about how out of date the SEC is, it's having Alabama whup up on Baylor in the Cotton Bowl and Florida taking Maryland's measure in Orlando.

Somehow, I've got a hunch I'll be savoring the taste of tangerines more in '81 than ever before.

Course it would've been better yet if another team of Bulldogs from Mississippi State and stuck it to Nebraska but three out of four ain't bad and tell me about any other conference that won 75 per cent of their bowl games. Heck, tell me about another conference with four member teams going to bowl games.

Take it a step further and tell me about a state that sent three major universities to bowl games and if you're a football fan, that ain't a bad way to begin a new year.

The only way I'd druther start the new year would be to sit back on Jan. 2 and gloat about the Gators sticking it to the Dame in New Orleans to win the national championship... particularly after they'd been written off as much as Georgia was this year.

Or, as Bob Williams did with a grin on the morning news on Channel Five Friday, to extend my condolences to Florida State fans everywhere. (Notice, Hub; I even capitalized the "F" and "S".)

One thing that puzzled me about football this new year though, was a comment by Ellen Goodman in her column that day, when she said the last time she went to a football game was in Ann Arbor, when she was turned off by 100,000 fans screaming, "Kill, Bubba, kill!"

Suzza me, ma'am, but didn't Bubba Smith play for Michigan State at East Lansing instead of Michigan at Ann Arbor? Probably not all that important but if Ms. Goodman was so confused she didn't know where she was... or if the fans in East Lansing were screaming so loud they drowned out the ones in Ann Arbor, that could be why she was turned off.

Just a few other things about this particular New Year's Day...

Didja pick up on the scam that this is the last year NBC will be carrying the Wonderful World of Disney? 27 years on the air and it's all over. That's about as bad as hearing that Ozzie and Harriet Nelson are getting a divorce.

Or the so-called news show Thursday morning that explored the possibilities for the next year, and the next nine of the decade, in a talk show format with five guests... and three of the five were in the arts with a politician and a newspaper publisher thrown in for seasoning?

I thought that was sorta odd since inflation is supposed to be the country's number one problem and there wasn't a financier or economist on hand, not to mention any of a number of other specialists in other fields.

I always did say that was an entertainment industry and not news oriented.

One of the things I picked up on was that I'm not the only one around who doesn't make New Year's resolutions.

That was as much of a reinforcement as the news from Miami to the effect that murders in 1979 had increased by 55 per cent over 1978... which gives me the assurance I was right about never developing any wild desire to live there.

And talking about reassurances, isn't it nice to know we only have three more years before we can celebrate the arrival of 1984?

The Two Fastest-Growing States

What are the two fastest-growing states, according to this year's census? Florida and Wyoming are, based on percentages.

Florida and Wyoming have both grown in population by about 41 percent during the past ten years, the census says, giving them the fastest growth rates in the country.

I lived in Wyoming from the summer of '79 to the summer of '80. So, I may be one of the few people in the nation to have lived in the two fastest-growing states during the past year.

Now, do I get a prize?

of Florida Sen. Paula Hawkins, the nation's second woman senator, running for the presidency.

And Now From The Underpaid Department

The last time serious consideration was given to establishing a lower federal minimum wage for teenagers was in the early 1970's, when President Nixon proposed it. Those groups against the proposal pointed out that Nixon advocated the lower wage for teenagers after he had received a huge campaign contribution from one of the largest employers of teenagers in the nation - McDonalds. The proposal, dubbed "The McDonalds hamburger bill" in Congress because of the obvious implication, was never passed.

Now, President-elect Reagan wants to institute a lower teenage wage too, thinking it will lower teenage unemployment and help fight inflation.

I was working in a fast food joint frying fish in 1973 while the teenage minimum wage was being debated seriously and our wage then was less than $2 an hour. The minimum wage is now $3.35. Then, and now, I believe the minimum wage should apply to everyone, regardless of age. If you're going to have a teenage minimum wage, how about a senior citizen wage or a handicapped wage or a journalist wage.

The lower teenage minimum wage will not increase teenage employment. There are only so many fish-frying or hamburger joint jobs available, and usually only young people want to work at those jobs anyway.

What the lower teenage wage will do is increase corporate profits at the unfair expense of our nation's youth. I'm sure McDonalds and other youth employers would love to see a teenage minimum wage. But I remember when I was a teenager (it's not been that long ago) and I sure didn't want my pay cut. I needed my money to put myself through college.

I'm sure most of the country's young people don't want a lower wage and a cheaper deal either.

ENERGY IS EVERYTHING. SAVE IT ON THE ROAD

Put the money into your pocket, instead of your gas tank.

When you waste energy on the road, you not only hurt your state and your country, you also hurt yourself and your family. Because you're literally burning up money that could be used for a lot of other worthwhile purposes.

Here are ways you can save a lot of money and energy on the road.

1. Car pool. Use pool. Use public transportation. To work. To school. To wherever. By sharing rides, you can save hundreds of dollars a year.
2. When starting up, accelerate briskly and steadily, until you reach the proper cruising speed. You'll improve mileage.
3. Drive a car that won't eat you out of house and home. Select the most energy efficient car for your needs. Nobody expects gas prices to go down.
4. Keep your car and tires in shape. A tune-up, proper air pressure and changing oil at the right time can save money every mile you drive.
5. Streamline your truck by installing a cone-mounted wind deflector.
6. Send for Florida's tips on how to save money and energy on the road.

Write: Save it on the road, The Capital, Tallahassee, Florida 32305. In today's world, energy is everything. Save it on the road, save it, Florida.

DRUG LAG

Is the American public being denied important new drug discoveries? Is the government approval process for new drugs too involved and too time consuming? These questions are being asked with greater frequency by health experts, by consumers, and by the drug manufacturers themselves.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has maintained that the time required for approval of new drugs is essential to protecting the American public. The apparent drug lag that occurs between the submission of application and approval is as short as is prudent.

An excellent argument for time consuming and careful analysis of a drug's safety is demonstrated by the thalidomide tragedy (birth defects) that occurred in other countries but, for the most part, was prevented in the United States. Thalidomide... due to the involved approval process... never reached the general American public.

On the other hand, many apparently safe drugs have only recently become available in the United States but have been marketed there for countless years. We are sure to hear more of the drug lag question in months and years to come.

Crime may decrease in 1981, Bludworth says

By DEAN JONES

BELLE GLADE — Crime that continued to grow at an alarming rate in 1980 could decrease in 1981, Palm Beach County State's Attorney David Bludworth told local Rotarians Tuesday, largely because of aroused citizenry.

"An aroused citizenry will get more done than alert police, tough judges and tough prosecutors put together," Bludworth told the Rotary Club members, "and I'm seeing an aroused citizenry... not just white middle class men but blacks and women too.

"I think that when I come back and visit you next year," he said, "you will have seen a slowdown. I don't mean we won't have crime but there will be a slowdown."

Bludworth began his presentation by saying he believes crime is a national issue; that he was surprised and disappointed that neither presidential candidate addressed it as such but then cited several reasons he believes crime could be curtailed during the coming year.

He noted that with Strom Thurmond heading up the Senate Judiciary Committee and more than 150 new federal judges up for confirmation, there is a strong possibility that Thurmond will ask each of them whether he or she favors the death penalty.

He said there is a strong possibility that a policy long in effect which prevented the use of military forces to aid police units could be annulled, allowing the use of military forces against the drug traffic flowing through South Florida.

He said there is already a new statute on the books allowing the state to confiscate property bought with drug money, saying he is now in the process of confiscating a $300,000, effectively striking drug dealers in the pocketbook and taking away the profit motive.

He said that, beginning next week, he will release a list to the various news media in the county which would contain names of all persons convicted that week of felonies and there is a move afoot to include the names of juvenile offenders.

"Not more than an hour ago," Bludworth said, "I was talking with a man whose son was arrested on a drug charge because he was riding in a car with a boy who had already been arrested previously and who was being investigated for dealing in drugs."

"He told me that if he had known the boy was a dealer, he wouldn't have allowed his son to associate with him," Bludworth said he feels the public has a right to know who juvenile offenders are from.

Bludworth said he has also addressed the state Supreme Court recently, saying the justices need to give criminals convicted and sentenced to death a higher priority.

"I believe there's been too much dilly dallying with the death penalty," Bludworth said. "Death is a deterrent," he said, but only when it's used.

"Deterrence only works," he said, "when the criminal is convinced he will probably be caught and receive fast justice."

Entering his third term in office, Bludworth said his most pleasurable moments have come when he and his staff have been able to work with juveniles to prevent crime, and in making his office "the most accountable" of the 20 state's attorneys' offices throughout Florida.

The worst part, on the other hand, has been spending so much of his time over the past 14 years working with the victims of crime, "particularly people who have lost loved ones," who were murdered.

Commenting on the cost of crime, Bludworth pointed out that the state now needs a new $120 million facility to handle the influx of criminals into the penal system; that it costs $12,000 a year to incarcerate a juvenile and $3,000 to incarcerate an adult and $2,000 to open a circuit court for a day.

FAU classes to be offered

BELLE GLADE—Florida Atlantic University once again will be offering Continuing Education courses at Palm Beach Junior College Glades Center for students wishing to enroll in courses in Education.

 For older persons on a fixed income, H&R Block has the right answer to this and other questions regarding special tax credits and deductions for these taxpayers.

Two commissioners to run

SOUTH BAY — Two of the three city commissioners whose seats are up for grabs in the upcoming Mar. 3 city election said Tuesday night they intend to qualify for re-election in the near future.

Mayor-Commissioner Don Tanner said Commissioner Vernita Cox said they would be seeking re-election while Commissioner Rufugio "Poncho" Garcia Jr. said he hadn't yet made up his mind, that he would probably wait until the last minute.

The 1981 city election clock began ticking Friday with the opening of the qualification period for candidates, which will continue through Feb. 16. Prospective voters have until Jan. 31 to register and City Clerk Virginia Walker said city hall will be open Saturday, Jan. 17 to register those who can't get in on weekdays or who can't get to the Palm Beach County Glades Office Building to register.

Commissioner Cox will be running for her fifth term of office. The usual term of office for commissioners is two years but she and Tanner picked up an extra six months when they were elected in 1976 because the city changed its election day from September to March.

Tanner will be running for his fourth term. He is finishing up his third one-year term as mayor.

George Imes dies

GEORGE "RED" IMES BELLE GLADE—Funeral services for George "Red" Imes, one of the early crop dusters in the Glades, were held Friday, Jan. 2 at the Mixson Funeral Home Chapel with his son-in-law, the Rev. Paul Cornwell of Grenada, Miss. officiating.

Mr. Imes 77, who lived at 428 E. Ventura St. in Clewiston after his retirement, was a native of Ardmore, Okla. He came to the Glades area in 1934 and worked 35 years as crop duster pilot.

After serving five years as a captain in the Royal Canadian Air Force during World War II, Imes returned to the Glades. He worked as a manager of the Belle Glade Airport for many years and was responsible for the construction of the north-south runway at the airport.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church, a past member of the Elks Lodge #1716, a member of the Belle Glade Masonic Lodge #273 and the Belle Glade Lions Club.

Survivors include his widow, Ethel; two sons, Albert E. Imes of Siler City, N.C. and "Bubba" Imes of Belle Glade; two daughters, Jeanne Cornwell of Grenada, Miss. and Carol Suggs of West Palm Beach; one sis.-r, Margaret Bellenger of Bremerton, Wash. and ten grandchildren.

Honorary pallbearers were Len Connell, Lawrence Altman, Jack Scott, James "Roy" Scott, Frank Bell, Freddie Annaplan and Pappy Lane. Cremation followed in Lake Worth.

Mixson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ularly wanted to see the inclusion of the two courts in each park after seeing how heavily used the courts at Belle Glade's Airport were.

Rogers said he anticipated the racquetball courts would be heavily used, that he would be using them daily, and should alleviate the pressure on the courts to be built in the Belle Glade park.

He said the racquetball courts would be fully enclosed, lighted and would include spectator balconies.

Polar bears on planks

HOLDING A PYRAMID as one of the club's clown acts were David Norwood, on top, Tony Beasley and John Ellison until...

DISASTER STRUCK when Norwood tumbled backward from the stack of clowns while Beasley watched and Ellison held his eyes on the rope.

second photo in a curtain of spray that all but hides him in the third, where he is shown skiing on his bare feet.

KEEP THAT FIRE WARM is what Bruce Carter is doing after his barefoot act. Bruce was joined by Lori Betts, who was also drying off.

By Dean Jones
BELLE GLADE—Eleven walking, talking, goosebumps proved Sunday they were the Glades' own version of the Polar Bear Club during an impromptu water ski show put on at the Municipal Marina by Sunshine Watersports Limited ski club.

"This is the hard core," club member Ray Mills said, as he and two other members huddled close to a fire in a barrel after performing one of 14 acts put on by the club for a handful of spectators. "These are the ones who'll show up any time."

Club President Bret McCormick estimated the water temperature in the Rim Canal at 58 degrees, at a time when the air temperature was somewhere in the high 50's to low 60's.

It was enough to make some of the club members pass on the bottles of beer being passed around from a cooler and more than one were asking where the coffee was.

The 11 club members weren't the only ones present. Others claimed it was too cold and still others of the 54 members didn't show up at all. Mills said some of those were home in bed with colds.

Even so, two more members took part in the impromptu show than the nine people who banded together to form the club in February 1980 for last year's Black Gold Jubilee.

McCormick and a few friends formed the club with the express purpose of putting on a ski show for the 1980 Black Gold Jubilee. McCormick had participated in ski contests during the first Black Gold Jubilee and the city's 50th Anniversary celebration in 1978 but the contests drew few participants.

For the 1980 Jubilee, McCormick and Mills, who has acted as show director for the first year, brought the young club along far enough to put on the first show, although some of the early members had never skied before.

"We're going to be working on something for this year's Black Gold," Mills said Sunday, "that only one club has done before, and that club's been disbanded. That's a backward pyramid."

Pyramids, including one seven-unit version, made up only one type of event the club members tried Sunday, however. McCormick did an Around-the-World, building up speed behind the towboat, which went into a tight circle, pulling him completely around the boat in a 360 degree circle.

Thirteen-year-old Bruce Carter, the club's youngest member, stepped off a hydroslide onto the water, barefooting it for some distance before letting go the towrope.

Two other methods of skiing barefoot were demonstrated, one by Mills, who jumped straight out of his pair of skis to land on the water while standing up, and McCormick, who did a tumble-turn, falling sideways off his slalom, twisting his body after being jerked into the air, and landing on his bare feet.

Then there were the adagio and towbar, done by Mills and his wife, Carol, the clown acts put on by several club members, the toehold, layouts and other feats of skill on the skis.

All this, mind you, when normal people were wearing dry clothing, usually including jackets, and huddling around the fire built to keep the skiers warm.

McCormick said the club will celebrate its first anniversary in February, when new officers will be elected. He said the club is still building and new members are still being sought.

The question - to lose or not

After thinking it over at great length, I finally made a New Year's Resolution. To lose 40 pounds.

Now 40 pounds may sound like a lot of weight and quite frankly, it is, but since I managed to gain 55 pounds last year, 40 pounds should be a cinch.

After making the resolution, the tough part was to decide what to eliminate from my diet. No, No, Mr. Bill, no more beer, right at the top. Beer, the most fantastic invention in modern times is a no-no in 1981.

Colas; the second most important item in my diet must bite the dust this year. Potato chips and dip; third on the list and best while watching Monday Night Football, won't be so hard to give up because the season is almost over.

According to my doctor, popcorn is okay if unsalted, but who wants popcorn without beer.

so it has to be popped out of my life as well. Dispensing with the food items to help lose weight, the next step is exercise. Don't have to worry about my fingers. They get a regular workout on the typewriter.

Jogging is the answer. Never knew jogging could be so expensive. Naturally, I had to have one of those jogging suits, $89.50, a new pair of tennis shoes to match, $29.95 and a three-pack of athletic socks, you know, the ones with the little blue and yellow stripes at the top, $8.95. So, after spending one-hundred twenty-eight dollars and 40 cents, I'm ready to run.

Living in the Southwest section of Belle Glade is great until a man in a blue jogging suit hits S.W. second street and discovers a huge 160 pound German Shepherd lives on the same and does not like to see men in blue suits running down the road. The first day out, I lost three pounds. Not bad!

Dancing is also an excellent method to lose weight, especially if a person knows how to dance. Thought I'd give it a whirl. Went down south to a new disco and what I saw was unbelievable. It looked like a bunch of dead people jumping up and down on a pogo stick, and guess what they called the dance, the "Pogo". After my date had "Pogged" me nearly to death, I decided to take my sore back and head home. Weight lost that evening, 0 pounds. Had two beers while dancing.

After considering many alternatives, I think the best thing is never to make another dumb New Year's Resolution. I'll lose the weight, even if it kills me and it probably will if the German Shepherd doesn't catch me first.

It may come as a shock but the hottest new development in meat processing — which is credited with more tender beef, firmer lean meat, speedier carcass processing and more economically fed animals — isn't new at all.

Electrical stimulation, now employed by most major U.S. packers, was first accomplished by Ben Franklin, who in 1749, used a single electrical discharge to kill turkeys, noting that not only did the jolt make the resulting poultry "uncommonly tender" but that he had thus found "the first practical use for electricity." Regardless of the age of the discovery, or its late entry into modern packing houses, Texas A & M tests do indicate that tenderness increases about 21 percent after electrical stimulation. Meatling also appears more distinctly. But, the best news to the cattle raiser is the fact that electrical stimulation will enable them to market leaner, more economically fed animals.

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Probably coming down with something

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever — she always fears the worst! Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all!

It is a HESITATION, hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face today! Do something about it next week! Choose YOUR place of worship. And make attendance a regular habit. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child... HIS place of worship.

Keeping the Faith

BY THE REV. JOE ED McGAHEY
Community United Methodist Church

And the Lord will possess Judah as His portion in the Holy Land, and will again choose Jerusalem as His dwelling place, before the Lord, for He is chosen by His holy habitation." Zechariah 2:12, 13 NASB

Sometimes as we look at world events we get the idea that all things are in the hands of strange people who are not sure what they are doing. For as we look at current situations it seems that everything is going wrong that can go wrong. International diplomacy seems to be breaking down at almost every level. The world economy exploding - with the price of a gallon of gasoline in some parts of the world costing more than a barrel of oil cost in the past.

International terrorist seems to be able to get by with most anything and most world governments are even willing to recognize them as legitimate. Then there is an unknown sort of tension in the air. People are wondering what is really about to happen.

What is God saying in the midst of all this world upheaval? Those who ought to stay in His Presence until they were sure they had heard from God are getting a consistent message. The message is that something big is getting ready to happen.

The time is very quickly coming when people are going to be able to play church. Belonging to the church or attending when it is convenient is not going to have any meaning. Our faith is something we will either take very seriously or not at all. There will be no social or economical benefit in being a lukewarm member of the church. Rather that kind of religion will become a total liability.

I believe we are right now living in God's countdown and while there are many who will scoff at the idea of such a thing. That does not change the fact of prophecies being fulfilled.

In 1948 an intentional miracle happened. A people who had not been a nation, nor had a government, nor a land of their own for nearly 1900 years became a nation. ISRAEL was born! In 1968, Jerusalem again became the capitol of Israel. All of this was the fulfillment of prophecies that are 1900 to more than 2500 years old.

But these events along with other worldwide happenings mark the start of God's very special activity during "the last days." Therefore you and I are living in some of the most exciting days man has ever lived. But unless we are living in a close and very real relationship with the Lord we will very likely miss what God is doing. We will otherwise only see the actions of man.

I sense in the General public today the same attitude the children of Israel had when they came to the Red Sea. In front of them was the Sea, behind them there was the Egyptian army. It looked like they had the choice of drowning in the Sea, or being slaughtered by the Egyptians. But God had not brought them to that place for either of these things.

Neither have we been brought to this place for our destruction. But just as they needed to depend upon God for direction, so do we need to. Man's ideas and solutions will not get us through the situations of today.

As a people we need to learn where God is leading us today and then do whatever He directs us to do. This means we had better get around to making Jesus Christ the first priority of our lives. We need to learn how to come before the Lord until we have heard His word. Then we need the courage to follow His direction. This kind of commitment is the result of spiritual on top of very real committing of our lives to Jesus Christ as the Master of life.
